

Supervisor Urges New Look at Park Programs

A new look "through the eyes of teenagers" at recreational programs at public parks and playgrounds has been urged by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

In a speech—titled "What's Wrong with our Playgrounds?"—before the Recreational and Youth Services Planning Council, Hahn said: "We see that teenagers will flock to the Sunset Strip and crowd the Teen Posts, but they ignore the public parks and playgrounds provided by taxpayers' money for their recreation and enjoyment."

"The recent 'Sunset Strip' incidents points up a real vacuum in our recreational system. And, in a forceful and disturbing manner, they show us what many young people of today like to do."

IN THE AUDIENCE at the Western Avenue Golf Course Clubhouse were recreational leaders and college professors from throughout Los Angeles County. "The major concern of recreation leaders must be to change the use of our parks and playgrounds from just being for children under 12 and senior citizens," Hahn said.

"The teenagers and young adult do not use our County recreational facilities to their fullest advantage, and recreation directors and general managers must change their viewpoint to the modern age of the teenager in '67."

"We must justify to the taxpayers and to the parents the tremendous public investment in parks and recreational facilities, and make them used to the fullest advantage," he stressed.

HAHN NOTED there are at least $750 million worth of parks, beaches, playgrounds, and recreational facilities in Los Angeles County alone.

"Can the recreation leaders learn from the Sunset Strip demonstrations and challenge the teenagers who are aimlessly drifting down the sidewalk with no goal in sight for a better use of their leisure time?"

HE CALLED for "moving far beyond" the traditional baseball and basketball tournaments, ping pong, checkers, and caroms.

"Although these facilities should still remain in our playgrounds they do not fully meet the needs of our teenagers. What we need is an active program in which the teenagers will participate."

HE SAID the playgrounds in 1967 should offer more such activities as dances, billiards and pool competition, slot racing, golf, juke boxes in every playground and a place where young people can listen to the latest music and see movies on surfing and custom cars.

"Teenagers like to be together and we should provide the atmosphere under proper supervision that will make our recreational facilities in demand by the teenager," he said.

At Hahn's request, an in-depth re-evaluation of the programs and operations of county parks is in progress. "As we begin this year we must re-evaluate the criteria of the use of our leisure time activities for every citizen from the baby beginning to walk to the senior citizens."

The average length of time a patient remained in a hospital in 1965 was 7.8 days.
